ARMA San Francisco 2017 Exhibitor Information Package 51st US Rock Mechanics / Geomechanics Symposium

Join Us in San Francisco 25 – 28 June 2017!

The American Rock Mechanics Association invites you to participate as an exhibitor at the 51st US Rock Mechanics / Geomechanics Symposium to be held on 25 – 28 June 2017 in San Francisco, California, USA.

ARMA San Francisco 2017 encompasses all aspects of rock mechanics, rock engineering, and geomechanics – scientific and applied papers will be presented in petroleum engineering, civil engineering, geology and geophysics, mining engineering, and underground construction. With an expected attendance of over 700 delegates from industry, government, and academia, exhibiting at ARMA San Francisco 2017 will help put you in touch with industry leaders who make key purchasing decisions in this marketplace.

The symposium will feature a comprehensive trade show for suppliers, consultants, government, and other firms wishing to demonstrate their products or services to the rock mechanics communities.

The trade show will tentatively begin with the Opening Reception at 7:15 pm on Sunday, 25 June 2017, and run through Monday, 26 June and Tuesday, 27 June from 10:00 am until 5:00 pm, providing your team with 2½ days of contact time with the delegates.

We look forward to seeing you in San Francisco!
